ODH Evidence of Health Disparities Strategies Checklist

This checklist should be used to support planning, implementation, and evaluation of strategies to reduce disparities and overcome social determinants of health. This checklist is a guide to establish a baseline criterion that all projects funded by ODH to support alignment with established priorities to achieve optimal health for all Ohioans.

Health Disparities, and , Social Determinants of Health

Racial and ethnic minorities, those living in rural communities, people with disabilities, and Ohio's economically disadvantaged residents do not have the same opportunities as other groups to achieve and sustain optimal health. Health disparities occur when these groups experience more disease, death, or disability beyond what would normally be expected based on their relative size of the population. Health disparities are often characterized by such measures as disproportionate incidence, prevalence and/or mortality rates of diseases or health conditions. Health is largely determined by where people live, learn, work, play, and age. Health disparities are unnatural and occur because of low socioeconomic status, race/ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender, disability status, geographic location, or some combination of these factors. Those most impacted by health disparities also tend to have less access to resources like healthy food, safe housing, quality education, safe neighborhoods and freedom from forms of discrimination. These are referred to as social determinants of health (SDOH). SDOH are a root cause of health disparities. . Programs that incorporate social determinants into the planning and implementation of interventions will greatly contribute to advancing health opportunities.

The ODH is committed to the elimination of health disparities and promoting optimal health for all Ohioans. The items below are requirements for all applicants to ensure health opportunities are embedded within all components of the application (e.g., Goals, Program Narrative, and Objectives.)

- Identify specific groups who experience a disproportionate burden of disease, health condition or health outcome targeted by this solicitation. See Ohio's State Health Assessment Ohio's health data. <https://odh.ohio.gov/wps/portal/gov/odh/explore-data-and-stats/interactive-applications/2019-online-state-health-assessment>
- Identify geographic reference points (i.e., census tracts, census block groups or zip codes) to specify where program activities are focused.
- Use direct or indirect feedback from the prioritized population, community, group, or community agency to identify specific social and environmental conditions (social determinants of health) associated with health disparities.

Identify measurable health disparities targets that demonstrate reducing disparities and improving health are critical goals to be achieved through program activities. This information must also be supported by data.

APPLICATION REVIEW FORM

The application review form is a working document to be used by the reviewers for each grant proposal reviewed. The use of the following outline will ensure that all salient points are included and that there is a consistent order to each review. A strength is a response that clearly meets or exceeds requirements set forth in a review criterion. A weakness is a response that falls short of meeting requirements set forth in a review criterion. Please refer to the application materials to assist you in assigning points to each criterion and in developing your strengths and weaknesses for each application, especially the scoring rubric.

This document is designed for reviewers to easily checkmark each item within the criterion, choose a score from a dropdown menu, and enter a narrative for strengths and weaknesses for each criterion. Please limit to no more than five statements for each criterion's strengths and weaknesses.

At the end of the document is a section to provide a summary statement of the application, as well as the most significant strength and/or weakness of the application.
