

Revision to 2016 Annual Report

Page 2, Table 2, Results of Repeat Screenings 2015-2016 has been corrected. The graph and the narrative have been revised to accurately reflect reported numbers.

As outlined in the screening protocol, under certain conditions, some infants who fail a first or second screening may receive a second or third screening. For those infants that failed a first screening, the following outcomes were reported for second and third screenings. About 60 percent of infants that failed the first screening passed a second screening while only about 47 percent of the infants that failed a second screening passed the third screening.
